

Conjuring Clarity – Declaration of Creative Space

Now that you've looked ahead and anticipated potential obstacles, created your support system, scheduled and calendared, identified the voices in your head, refreshed your mindset, and written letters to your inner voices, it's time to declare your needs to the people in your life

This declaration is meant to inform the people in your life that you will be embarking on a new endeavor, a journey that will require a new and different kind of focus for you and that you want and need their support. Be sure that they understand your needs are both spatial and temporal. You will need the physical space AND the time to write.

These people can be partners, kids, friends... And sometimes, unfortunately, it's the people closest to us who seek – either wittingly or unwittingly – to sabotage our dream.

Take a moment to complete this worksheet so you have a clear idea of what you will tell the people in your life so that they can get on board to help you make your dream a reality. What do they need to know so they can help you make progress rather than interfere with it?
